

Now, some last minute things I'd like to share with all of you.

For all those stations on Twitter: A Twitter list has been compiled where all of the stations participating had been added. This is a great way for all of the stations to communicate during the 24 hours in one stream without it getting lost within the rest of the Twitter feed. If you want to participate you must go to your stations Twitter account, find your lists, find the "College Radio Day 2015" list and subscribe – then you're ready to go!

For those looking for cool, dynamic content to air on your stations navigate to <https://soundcloud.com/collegeradioday> where we have some awesome liners from some pretty cool artists. There are also exclusive interviews from Stewart Copeland of The Police and Josh Eppard from Coheed and Cambria (as well as other interviews from previous years). You can also find the CRD 2015 Simulcast from the White House if you would like to air that as well. In addition, if your station signed up to participate before September 1, 2015, you have customized sweepers made for your station also located on the Soundcloud page.

Lastly, remember to have fun. You might even hear from myself and Vice President Sean McDonald tomorrow too.

I am in awe of everything all of you and your stations do.

Long Live College Radio and Happy College Radio Day!
